The Welding Dept. can boast of almost everything, their latest addition being a Paratrooper Fred Tucei of Biloxi. Fred was employed in the Yard for several months prior to his induction into the service, and was only recently given an honorable discharge.

He had a year's experience in the Paratroopers, completing 11 jumps and had already received his silver wings, when his discharge came through. Although one of the youngest men in his department, his foreman said that he was one of the best and most conscientious workers he had in his crew on the night shift.

Fred's brother-in-law, Fred Dick, is now a Private stationed in India with the Ferry Command, flying over lately.

Right alongside of L. E. Cuevas on No. 10 Way; is G. C. Cochran, ex-farmer, who is also in the Pipe Dept., and hails from Van-cleave. These two men work side by side and are doing a grand job in the yard. Although here only seven months, Cochran is

YARD NOTES

C. G. Broom, 16, Ferriday, La., is one of the used-to-be farmers now on the yard, as a tacker. Back home this boy lived on a 300 acre farm, with 173 acres under cultivation, raising cotton, soy beans, corn, oats, chickens and other foodstuffs. This boy belongs to "the barefoot gang," as he told us that he was moving to his sister's farm at Leaf, he was too crowded here in Pascagoula.

Walter D. Mansfield, one of Pascagoula's native sons has picked up his work in this war where he left off in the last war. Walter who is one of the best known men in the Yard, has been here as a burner a little over two years, the same trade he followed in World War I. He has a younger brother, L. D. Mansfield, former Ingalls Warehouseman, now in the Army, stationed in South Carolina. Walter has a record of never being late for work or missing a day since he started on the job.

Keep things rolling, Dept. 24, it shows that your department

Sgt. Kell Martin former welder checker, spent the week-end at home near Ocean Springs. He has been in the Army two years. His sister, Mildred, works in Mr. Pelan's office, a phone-answerer de-luxe.

L. E. Cuevas is the operator of the Pipe Machine on No. 10 Way. He has been on the job a year and is one of the many people driving back and forth to work, traveling a distance of 130 miles to and from Pass Christian. He operates a truck, bringing 14 other men to work at the Yard, leaving home at 4:45 o'clock and not getting back home until 5:45 that afternoon.

He has a wife and four children and his invalid father also lives with him. His job is the essential one of threading pipe and related duties.

Did you ever stop and think how important it was to rig a ship for launching and who was responsible for this job? The man responsible is H. E. Brodnax, 31-year-old Biloxian. Although young for such a respon-

Pretty stenographer in the Bureau of Investigation office is Hilda Parker, from Poplarville. She's been here since January, after learning all about typing and stenographing in New Orleans.

Lois Hunter was among Machine personnel visiting out of town on the week-end recently, going to Catchings, to visit her parents.

Kim Mansfield

Kim Mansfield is the owner of En Vogue hair salon on Telephone Road in Pascagoula, right behind the Annex Restaurant. Mansfield said she knew she wanted to be a hair dresser as soon as she graduated high school. Both her aunts were professional hair-dressers and Mansfield said she visited their salons when she was a little girl and watched them work on people's hair. She's been a hair dresser for more than 20 years, graduating from Pascagoula Beauty Academy in 1986. She said she loves working with people and enjoys the casual, fun atmosphere of the salon. "I have a wonderful staff here," she said, "and I love talking with customers. The hardest part of her work, she said, is finding the time to accommodate everyone. "I'm booked so full all the time," she said, "it's frustrating when you can't accommodate everyone's schedule." Mansfield said hair fads come and go like fashion but she tries to give most people the style that best suits their hair quality and the shape of their face. Her favorite styling task is coloring but she said she also enjoys cutting long hair and convincing a customer to donate hair to Locks of Love, an organization that takes real hair and makes wigs for cancer patients.

Death of Miss Julia Mansfield.

The angel of death selected a shining mark when he visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mansfield, in South Pascagoula street, and took from them their daughter, Miss Julia Mansfield, just in her nineteenth year. Her death occurred Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock, after she had been confined to her bed for only a week. The young lady had been in bad health for over a year, having had to give up her studies in the high school on account of health.

Miss Mansfield was a beautiful girl well known in the community, and very popular in the social circle which she graced. Especially was she popular with her school mates, and those she met in the daily walks of life.

The funeral occurred Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, from the residence of her parents, proceeding to the church of Our Lady of Victories, of which deceased and her family were members.

The interment was at the Pascagoula Cemetery. The following were the active pall bearers: Messrs. R. B. Ching Lofton Cox, Claude Cox, Stevens, John Grant and Jimmie Lee. The following young ladies, school and class mates of the deceased, were the honorary pall bearers: Misses Bernice Ferrer, Eunice Kell, Ivon Walker, Helen Franck, Margaret Watts, Felicia Long Annette and Odette Alley. Many beautiful floral offerings were banked on the grave among them a huge bouquet of pink roses from the senior class of P. H. S., the class to which Miss Mansfield would have belonged had she continued in school, pink roses being the class flower.

To the stricken parents and other relatives our heartfelt sympathies are added to those of the entire community.

UNCLE ZEKE IN NEW ORLEANS

There is no use talking about big places
and sights for I went to New Orleans the other day and I was fairly paralyzed. I went to a good many places, but the one that got me totally ahead
of me was a tremendous big store they call the "RED STAR." It's as big as a 250-pound
girl on roller skates,
and don't you forget it.
What do they keep?

Shoes, Hats, Umbrellas, Baskets and Catchols. You wouldn't believe there was so many shoes in the United States as I saw in that store, and at prices so low they would make your hair curl. They've got everything from the common brogans to the finest shoes for ladies, men and children. And hats—there's oceans of hats.
You can buy the latest style straw hats
there from 25c. to $2.00 a piece. And you are sure to get your money's worth. If you'll look at this picture you'll see just about the way Uncle Zeke is going to make for the BIG RED STAR, corner of Canal and Exchange Place every time he goes to New Orleans.

ELEGATES TELL OF ROTARY MEET

Hermes Gautier and Roger C. Helmer
Give Impressions of Convention
In Baton Rouge.

Hermes Gautier and Roger C. Helmer entertained the Rotary club Wednesday with an instructive account of the twentieth District Convention held in Baton Rouge on Monday and Tuesday. They attended as representatives of the Pascagoula club, and were accompanied by Mrs. Gautier and Mrs. Helmer, and so were obliged to "be good" while in the Louisiana city. They both spoke of the high lights of the convention, of some of the dinners and luncheons they enjoyed, of the pleasant fellowship that characterized the whole meeting, and of the splendid talks they heard by prominent Rotarians, especially the talk made by Rotarian by the name of Nelson from Canada, whose talk was so full of good things that Hermes took pains to jot down some of them in his note book and refer to them in the talk of Wednesday. The report of both representatives showed that they got a great deal out of the meeting, and both were of the opinion that if more Rotarians could attend the district meetings they would become better Rotarians.

FORMER PASCAGOULA WOMAN DIES IN GALVESTON, TEXAS

Relatives here were shocked to learn of the death, in Galveston, Texas, on last Sunday, of Mrs. Mary E. Olson, formerly of this city. The remains were brought here for interment, the funeral taking place Wednesday afternoon in Greenwood cemetery. Rev. W. I. McInnis, pastor of the First of threatened violence, nesses who would have Carraway failed to appear, conviction was affirmed by court and he was sentenced January 8, last. Counsel defendant appeared before the court with a request for a writ of coram nobis. Judge W. Jackson circuit refused holding that three witnesses had testified to what the nesses were expected to have and that "therefore no writ be served by a coram nobis which would have provided review of the case for error."

Carraway's counsel then the supreme court and set the hour set for the execution. Anderson issued a writ to force a decision from the court on whether such an appeal was granted.

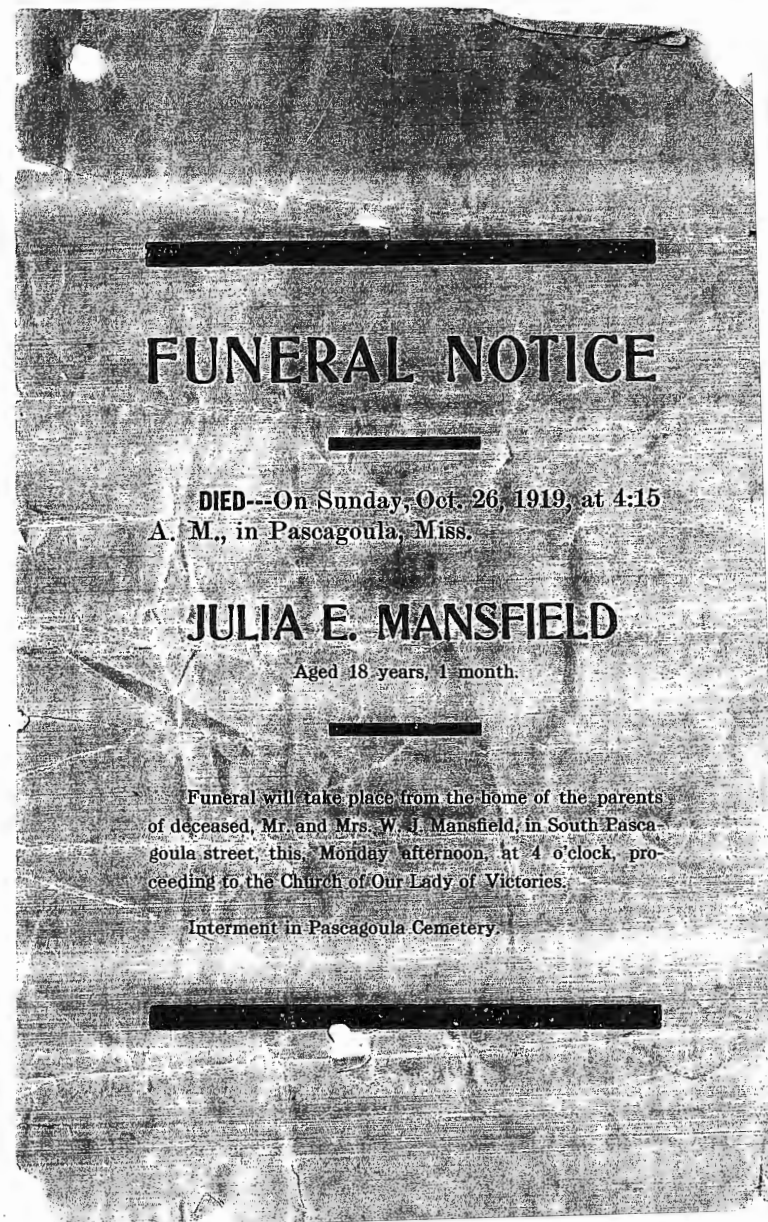

The ruling today displayed concerning such appeals, the court holding there is no writ that "if a circuit judge refused a writ of error coram nobis matter is settled and the case must be sentenced or executed by the court."

Carraway was convicted April 7, 1931, at a special circuit court called for his crime being an assault on a woman on February 22. He was sentenced by Judge White to be hanged on Monday. His attorney took an appeal to the circuit court, which court affirmed the sentence. The court set a new date for the hanging of the execution was twice a reprieve granted by the court. Bilbo, the last date being January 8, 1932.

Just as the sheriff of Jefferson county was preparing to order of the court, on the day for the execution, Carraway, a Negro lawyer, appeared and applied to Judge White for a writ of coram nobis, on the ground that he had discovered evidence, which was denied by Judge White, and Judge White's refusal of the last appeal was taken to the supreme court. The ruling of the supreme court on this later case seems to end the matter as the courts are concerned remains only for the sheriff
